

Feng Shui Positions

Welcome to class 8!

Can you believe that we have come to the finale class of this course? The next course we hope to conduct will be about the alphabet and signatures. You will know everything about your name and anything to do with words.

An announcement

A lot of people who study with Aur go back to their normal life style and don't use this knowledge in their life. The best way you can improve is by practicing what you have learnt by reading as many houses as possible.

Always remember that this knowledge is 100% accurate. So don't try fixing anything until you are sure of yourself. You are responsible for the harm you bring to others if you make a mistake. Their bad karma will also have an effect on you. Make sure you are thorough with taksa, colors and positions if you want to fix a person's life.

Another thing to keep in mind is not to judge others. Always see from their shoes. Never use yourself as an example to advice others.

Blunders

Many of Aur's students have miscalculated when reading for others and all they can say is "Sorry". But saying sorry will not change the damage they caused for others.

Broken Leg

One such example Aur remembers vividly is when one of her students brought her friend along because terrible things kept happening. All this started after Aur's student fixed their house.

Due to her overconfidence she had calculated wrong and given the wrong colors. Her friend's life was messed up for two months up until her husband broke his leg. All she told her friend was "I'm sorry"

Wallets

Other mistake made by me (Vick). We sell wallets and purses of different colors all according to the day you are born and there was a couple in Europe that bought wallets and purses for themselves.

Six months pass by and while having a casual chat with them and I asked if the wallets were working. Their reply was that for the past six months they have had no customers or clients.

I then found out that I had not calculated if they were born before or after 6am. That one little mistake took away their customers for 6 months.

Again all I could say was sorry.

If you don't own that life and you are the cause for troubles to happen you can't say only sorry. Make sure you study everything we have taught

We will be putting up more articles in our website. Reading them will help you to deepen your knowledge. Basically you have all the tools. You just need to practice them.

Class 8

- Examples part 2
- Lighting examples
- Property shapes
- Table shapes and seating

This class is going to be similar to the last class where we will be providing you with live examples and a little bit extra.

Example 1

First thing Aur's students like to look at is the toilet because it is to do with money. But Aur thinks that relationship and health is the most important. So she looks at the bedroom first. If you have the right mindset and a healthy body you can always find money.

Kitchen

Reduced influence

The kitchen is in the dragon or man position.

But,

Our reading will change because the angle of the kitchen counter is 45°. Everything will have only 50% of influence.

Usually if the kitchen is situated in the man position you will cook often but in this case the people here will be only warming or boiling their food here.

The counter top is with the sink which is in position 2. This shows us that everything they cook is cleaned up at once. This influence is again because of the 45° floating counter top.

Usually in the man position, you will have a lot of stuff everywhere. But because of the diagonal, it means they will be cleaning up immediately. Everything will be 50% from what we see.

When having breakfast in the man position you will sit and talk and stay there for a long time. Again due to the 45° we read that they don't sit together often but if you do sit you will be there for a long time.

Bedrooms

Slave position

Did you know that during the ancient times people never used to have their bedroom in the front of the building? They used to call this the slave/guard position because they will be killed first if invaded by enemies.

The Forbidden City had the main quarters where the emperor stayed in the middle, and at the back end were where his wives slept. The front was for the security.

Aur has her bedroom in the same position as the Forbidden City. She even went as far as to put her bed exactly in the middle of the land. She wanted a pure 9. She used rope to go all the way across the land and found the exact point.

A person sleeping in the pure #9 position will know everything that is going on in the house.

An emperor should know everything that happens in their palace. But be careful, because it will be too much to handle for a normal human.

Surplus

This bedroom will not be suitable for a person with bi-polar disorder or a 3rd sex personality because it is situated in the woman area. It will make the person more emotional.

If you were a Monday woman which side of the bed would you sleep?

Since a Monday born person living in the woman position will make her more emotional and nagging it's better if she sleeps at the bottom trying to put her further away from the position.

The point of studying feng shui is to create a balance. Nothing in the world is perfect. If somebody tells you that they will make perfect feng shui for you then they are either lying or they don't know what they are talking about.

Perpendicular

Aur is concerned about the bedroom in the teenage girl position because the bed is perpendicular to the road. They will have a problem with their back or legs.

The reason the bed is positioned like this is because most people like to have a wall above their head. You can either put a curtain or put the bed head close to the window with the feet facing towards the door or you can put the bed on the opposite side with the feet facing towards the window and the head next to the door.

Bedroom Battle

The master bedroom and the room in front have their door facing opposite to each other. This reveals that the occupants will always have a conflict. You can fix this problem by putting a half circle mat at the front of each of the doors. That will disperse the problem. The color of the mat is according to what you learnt at the feng shui color class.

This is true even when neighbors have their doors are opposite to each other.

Vastu

Do you know that you have different feng shui for monks, emperors, normal humans and also for dead people?

Vastu is for monks. There are many people who follow Vastu thinking that it will help them. But in reality it will only make you break up with your husband. Since monks are not allowed to own any physical things you will lose everything. That is called good feng shui for monks.

Example 2

This example was sent in by a student. The only issue we have is that the image on the left is of the whole land and we don't know the outline of where the land end and where the land begins. This makes it difficult or impossible to read accurately.

And it is very rare that there are buildings like this. Usually people try to use the land as much as possible because the land is so expensive.

Bedroom

Perpendicular Bed

The bed is facing the wrong direction so you will have problems with your neck and shoulders.

Air-conditioning

The air condition is on top of the doorway, which is above their head. This shows that her husband will be having allergies since he is sleeping closer. The cold air flowing to the window and then the back to you will give you problems with your legs and back bone.

Entrance

The entrance is in the young girl's position which reveals that she will always go into other people's business.

Bathroom

There are two bathrooms with one facing perpendicular to the road and the other facing parallel to the road. Usually this means that the bathroom close to the master bedroom is the one they use and the other one is for social.

The first bathroom is a private bathroom for them. This is positioned parallel to the road which reveals that they wouldn't spend unnecessary on themselves.

The social bathroom is perpendicular to the road which shows that they are spend money on somebody else or socializing.

Storage

The store room is in between the #9 and the #6 positions. #9 means to collect. #6 means it goes unappreciated and forgotten. So putting them together you will be putting things that you don't use and will completely forget about it.

Example 3

Kitchen

This table can't be considered as diagonal because it is segmented into a square.

The dining room will not be used at all except when there are guests. Even if there are guests they will be very few in number. This is because the kitchen and the family area are in the #2 #3 and #4 position. #2 and #4 are more private areas.

Usually when they have visitors they will use the couch in the front living room.

Entrance

Entrance is in the #6 position which reveals that they won't have guests and even if they come they won't mean anything. They will just chat on the surface and then leave. This position usually is very private and goes unappreciated.

Toilet

Most people these days are so lazy they don't open their window. They simply turn on the air condition which brings in a lot of allergies.

If you live in a cold climate there won't be much of a problem but if the country is hot, the toilets will be infested with microorganisms. If there is no way for these organisms to escape it will come into your bedroom when you open the door.

It is always best to build a bathroom which will have plenty of sunlight and ventilation. The natural light will help to kill the bacteria and the ventilation will help move it out of the bathroom.

The same applies with the laundry and the kitchen. Although not visible to the naked eye there are a lot of chemicals involved when cooking that will have an effect on you later.

One way you can fix an already existing bathroom or kitchen is by having an air purifier or an air filter. This will filter out the bacteria.

Example 4

This house has the shape of two triangles stuck together with a swimming pool at the centre. When combining the shapes with the elements we can say that there is water in between two fires. The water will evaporate due to the heat and the fire will be destroyed as well.

This reveals to us that the people who live in this house will be fighting with each other all the time. They will never be able to relax and be comfortable. This house will have some sort of family business and the people will be constantly fighting for money.

We can read this because water denotes money. When there is water in between the two fires money is the issue whenever there is a conflict.

Example 5

This is a floor plan of an apartment from the TV show "How I met your mother"

Bedrooms

There are two bedrooms in this house situated in the two strong positions of the house and the doors are direct to each other. It's like two lions due to the strong positions of the man and the woman. This shows to us that they will constantly be fighting with each other.

Sleeping in the strong position will naturally make you confident. Even if you are not a very confident person by nature when entering the house you will change.

Entrance

The entrance is in the teenage boy position which means they will have a lot of people coming in just for a casual chat.

Kitchen

The kitchen is in the young boy position which reveals that they will not be cooking much. They will use it only to make coffee or sandwiches.

Dinning

Living room is in the #9 position which shows that that the visitors will hang out in the couch.

Now for that little bit Extra.

Lighting

Light is usually something oblivious to most people. They do not realize the importance of light to keep your body healthy.

Most feng shui experts would say not have a window behind your desk. But don't know the reason behind it.

This is because the rays from the sun comes down onto paper reflects back into your eyes. Too much of bright light will damage your eyes. When your eyes have a problem it affects your brain and it will not function properly and you will end up losing your memory.

Remember that your eyes, ears and mouth are all connected. Light can kill you bit by bit.

It is important that you don't allow too much direct sunlight coming into your house. This is especially important in the present time because our ozone is damaged. Sitting outside will burn your head, eye and skin.

Aur suggest that you have shades so that you still can have some natural light coming in and yet block out the harmful rays.

People who come into Aur's house for the first time usually feel the lighting is minimal but once you get used to little light you realize that your eye can see well. In the past humans can see very far away even in the dark but due to artificial bright lighting we have lost this ability.

People living in European countries are more sensitive to sunlight because they have clearer skin. They are more prone to freckles and wrinkles.

Having a light behind or above your head before sleeping affects your blood circulation although you turn it off when you sleep. If the light is on the side it won't have a big effect. Many modern beds are equipped with a reading light just above your head.

The bathroom, kitchen and laundry can have as much natural light as possible.

Having your bedroom fill up with the morning sunlight will do you a lot of good and at the end of the day your room will cool down and you can have a good night's sleep.

The people of modern times are not worried about the sun or the wind anymore. Their only concern is if the land is expensive and they want to make maximum use of the land. Nobody is worried about what direction it faces.

Property Slopes

Certain places have roads where one side is higher than the other. The property slope has an influence on everybody living in the houses.

House A – lower than the road.

The best you can be will be the first time you step in this house. Your life will never get a better.

House B – higher than the road.

Here there is a possibility for you to grow and your life to improve.

Side note - If you are situated in the country and are up a hill then the reading will be different.

Example 6

This is a perfect example to show how you can use nature to help you become rich.

You first walk in and then it drops. Then there is more of a drop at the back where there is a body of water surrounded by trees. Water denotes money. This means you can collect the wind and the water.

Usually a body of water is read as emotional but since the trees are surrounding it, there is stability.

Shapes

- Rectangle – wood
- Square – earth
- Circle – gold
- Triangle – fire
- Anything more than four sides - water

Anything that is in the form of a particular shape will have the influence of that element.

Tables

How will people be interacting differently according to the different shapes?

If it is a round table, everyone be more relaxed at chatting to each other. Attention will be divided equally.

The rectangle table will give importance to one person.

In conference room, if you want everyone to speak up and give their opinion an ideal option is to have a circular table. It is also good for a family dinner table. If you want structure and only one person to lead a rectangular tables will be the best.

A circle means gold which means that everybody has something.

You can also put the feng shui grid on top of the table according to where the road is situated and that will show how they have an influence and how they will act differently.

Somebody sitting on the top right will have more man characteristics while somebody sitting on the top left will have woman characteristics. You can go into a meeting and you pick which seat you want and straight away have an influence over another person. But keep in mind about the direction as well. Facing the kalakini direction you will not help you win.

You can pick the man, adult 3rd sex or female all according to your preferences.

An Oval table will have both influences of the rectangle and the circle. So you will be able to achieve anything out of it.

If you have gold and you need to do something out of it you need heat. But if you pure earth with gold, you will get nothing. You need heat to move gold.
